She has been a daycare owner and operator for over twenty-three years and has a passion for children and education. She serves on several Board of Director's and is known as "The Community Builder."

The books were written with early childhood development in mind, ages 0-5 years. Although we love and rely on technology, we were saddened by an observation of an extended family one night and noticed that everyone down to the toddler had a DEVICE while sitting at the dinner table and no one was engaged in communication. We wanted to create something that would inspire young reader's to "go old school" and rediscover and fall in love again with reading tangible books and using THEIR imagination to draw and create magical adventures!

Study's have shown the importance of early childhood development in young children, and how it has a direct and profound effect on their overall development-way into adulthood. Penelope Pencil is our way to encourage children to explore and express themselves. Often times it is difficult for a child to verbally share what they are feeling. Penelope inspires children to use art filled with beautiful colors to unlock their creativity and express themselves. Being expressive creatively maybe the only way a child can express their emotions.

Reading and handwriting plays such a pivotal role academically in their success and shaping their creativity.

Reader's are thinkers, thinkers are innovators, and innovators become our future leaders of tomorrow!
